CALL FOR PAPERS ECONOMIC CRISIS AND PUBLIC POLICY

We invite submissions for a special issue of the Central European Journal of Public Policy (Volume 3, Number 2). Articles should address the current economic crisis in relation to the field of public policy. For this purpose, we conceive the concept of crisis very broadly, not only as an economic and fiscal downturn but also as a decline of trust and a crisis of governance.

Authors from diverse academic fields may concentrate on a variety of topics including the following:

- Current economic crisis and the future of public policy.
- Strategic crisis action plan and how to effectively manage the unexpected.
- What are the risks arising from current economic crisis?
- Crisis of governance: expectations and risks.
- Inclusion and exclusion in times of crisis.

We welcome analytic as well as theoretical articles. Authors should send a short abstract which covers the objectives and methodology of their future article until the end of May 2009.

Please consult the rules for authors at our webpage.
