

Deloitte Czech Republic is one of the leading professional services organisations in the country providing services in audit, tax, consulting, risk management, financial advisory services and legal services through almost 700 national and specialised expatriate professionals.

Strategy group – Associate

Job description

We are looking for a candidate with strong commercial awareness and analytical skills, to join our specialist Strategy Consulting department in our Prague office (full time position).

Deloitte Strategy Group advises a host of different investors – including leading private equity houses, debt financing banks and companies involved in Mergers & Acquisitions – on investment opportunities. Our deep commercial insights help clients decide whether buying or selling makes good business sense. And we evaluate business plans and strategies against market performance and competitor strength so clients understand which companies are attractive acquisitions.

Services provided by department:

- Commercial due diligence focused on M&A targets for leading national and international corporates and private equity firms
- Market entry assessment and market entry support (including buy or build strategy)
- Business planning
- Strategy review and development

Responsibility

Assist with investigative and other project related fieldwork:

- Research data using available databases and internet
- Input and analysis of financial and other data in spreadsheets
- As part of project investigations conduct interviews with experts and market participants
- Reporting the findings
- Participating in meetings with the client
- Participation in business development initiatives
- Assist with administration of the projects

As part of the graduate program you will undertake a blended learning program involving: professional development with future possibility for professional qualification, self-development, awareness and gaining knowledge of the services and market.

If you have the qualifications and experiences, and if you're ready for a career with a dynamic organization, please contact us.
