

Guidelines 4/2022: Mobility support

Effective from July 1, 2022. These guidelines replace Guidelines 2/2018: Mobility support.

We co-finance long-term academic visits of PhD candidates through the following scheme:

Eligibility

- All active PhD candidates (not interrupted studies) are eligible for the support.
- The academic visit lasts at least a month.
- The hosting university is our partner university or a potential partner university. (Please contact our International Coordinator when uncertain about status of the hosting university.)
- Total support is counted proportionally depending on the number of days (e.g., a 42-day stay counts as 1.4 monthly support).
- Only formally eligible expenses (such as accommodation, travel, food, and local transportation) are covered.

Support

- Full monthly support for eligible PhD candidates is 6,000 CZK (per 30 days).
- When travel costs are co-financed through funds from other academic institutions, we reduce the support proportionally to the share of our funds (i.e., all funds administered by IES) in total funds.

How to proceed?

- When you plan your long-term visit, calculate the fixed support into your travel plan.
- We will check eligibility during the approval process.

Martin Gregor

Director
Institute of Economic Studies
Faculty of Social Sciences, Charles University